BIOGRAPHY

I am a Data Science Master's graduate with overseas background in art design and business operations. My strength lies in bridging business strategy with actionable, data-driven solutions. By leveraging my background in graphic design through data visualization skills, I communicate findings as persuasive narratives and compelling insights. My diverse experiences in ecommerce, new retail, broadcasting, and streaming media has centered on solving problems at the intersection of business, design, and technology. Cultivating resilience and braveness, solving problems by conquering cultural challenges, with a foundation in data science enhanced by design thinking, I continue to navigate business and financial landscapes.
